Bus-Route Switch Through Fairfield Will Be Proposed

New Service Along Pembroke Would Replace Fernwood Line

Alteration of existing bus routes in the South Fairfield area and inauguration of new bus services on Pembroke Street will be recommended to the City Council by the transportation committee, Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman, said yesterday.

If council approval is received, the changes will require consent of the transportation company and approval of the Public Utilities Commission.

Following a joint meeting of his committee with the public works committee yesterday, during which the present and proposed routes were surveyed on the ground, Ald. Diggon said he had been informed by Ald. J. D. Hunter, works committee chairman, that it was impossible to operate large buses on low-lying streets in the South Fairfield area due to the nature of the ground.

As an alternative to using the present Southgate Street-Oscar Street route to the Gonzales area, he said it had been suggested to route Gonzales buses via Humboldt and Rupert Streets and Fairfield Road. This would enable the use of Fairfield Road, a well-ballasted highway, over its entire length. Ald. Diggon added that the use of this route would eliminate the complaints of damage to houses received when the larger buses were used over the present route, and by allowing the use of large buses, assist in carrying rush-hour traffic to the South Fairfield area.

NEW ROUTE

As the B.C. Electric Railway Co. has announced its desire to discontinue the present Fernwood street car line by May 1, Ald. Diggon said he would recommend the institution of a new route along Pembroke Street. The new route would traverse Blanshard Street to the intersection of Pembroke, proceed east on Pembroke Street to Shakespeare and return. It would serve the new area, Central Park, Athletic Park and Victoria High School, he said.

Present plans call for the other end of this line to serve the present easterly end of the Richardson Street route, he stated. From Blanshard Street the new route would proceed along Pandora Avenue to Government and then via Fort Street or Yates Street to St. Charles Street. From St. Charles the route would turn east on Despard Avenue, south on Richmond Road, east on Fairfield Road, north on Foul Bay Road, west on Quamichan Street to St. Charles and return over the same route to the city.

This plan would eliminate the bus service along Richardson Street, Ald. Diggon admitted. If such a service was proved to be a necessity it would be reinstated.

ENSURES SERVICE

To make up for the loss of service at the eastern end of the Richardson Street route, he suggested that the Fairfield line might be rerouted at Thurlow Road or Arnold Avenue and proceed on Brooke Street to St. Charles Street and thence to Fairfield Road again.

While depending on the ability of these roads to take the heavier buses this plan would ensure transportation service through the centre of the area between the Ross Bay Cemetery and Government House grounds, he contended.

Referring to complaints of vibration damage on May Street, Ald. Diggon said it might be necessary to route this line along Faithful Street from Cook Street to Moss Street.

The B.C. Electric now has several new buses for the change, he said.

Unexplained U.S. Silence Stalls Palestine Action

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 24 (CP).—Unexpected and unexplained silence on the part of the United States stalled action by the United Nations Security Council today on the urgent issue of Palestine. Only Canada's intervention prevented an early break-up of the session.

The council had expected to take up a resolution by Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, calling for a special assembly of the 57 united nations to reconsider last Autumn's assembly decision to divide the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab states. The United States now proposes United Nation trusteeship for the strife-torn country.

But no resolution was forthcoming. The session was on the verge of adjournment only minutes after its opening for lack of speakers when Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian delegate, met the emergency by presenting a prepared analysis of the Palestine situation. Its "meat" was in the closing sentences:

"There is an obvious danger that if the United Nations, and the Security Council in particular, is to turn from one course of action to another without some assurance that the greatest possible amount of agreement and co-operation will be forthcoming from the countries most directly concerned, we shall again encounter serious difficulties of implementation.

"There, in the circumstances, the Canadian delegation is not, at the present stage, prepared to declare itself in favor of one course of action rather than another until we have seen some evidence that there is a meeting of minds on the part of the countries most directly concerned on what the best course of action should be."

Once Gen. McNaughton had opened the discussion, other delegates joined in. Alexandre Parodi of France supported Canada's stand, saying: "It is necessary to know where we are going. To convene the general assembly now without having decided what to do might cause the authority of the general assembly to diminish."

The session closed with a decision to adjourn the Palestine case until next Tuesday.

Veterans' Loyalty Aids Blind Buddy

ATLANTA, March 24 (AP).—A blind war veteran had the tractor he cherished today, because loyalty is not so fickle as luck.

Homer J. Curry came here from Sandyville, W.Va., to purchase the tractor at a War Assets Administration sale. It was the only one available. He hoped to use it in strip coal mining near his home.

But about 2,000 other veterans wanted the tractor. In the draw for priority, 1,159 came out ahead of Curry. And then each in turn stepped aside. Curry got his tractor.

To Make Second Attempt In Arctic Mercy Flight

WINNIPEG, March 24 (CP).—An R.C.M.P. Dakota aircraft will shrug itself through the Arctic's wintry March weather early tomorrow in a second attempt to reach Arctic Bay, 2,000 miles north of here, where its mission is to evacuate seriously-ill Mrs. Sam Dodds to a Winnipeg hospital.

But air force officials here were keeping their fingers crossed tonight. The first attempt to reach Arctic Bay from the aircraft's present base at Coral Harbor, 800 miles away, ended in failure today when low-lying clouds pressed down to fog visibility.

The aircraft, piloted to F.O. Bob Race of Vancouver, had covered half the distance to the little outpost lying nearly 500 miles within the Arctic Circle when atmospheric conditions forced a return to the Southampton Island base.

Tomorrow's attempt will be undertaken if weather conditions permit, otherwise the Dakota's crew of six probably will remain at Coral Harbor pending improved flying conditions.

Mrs. Dodds' condition, meanwhile, was reported "fairly good" today.

Disaster Strikes Jewish Armored Car

An Arab Legion truck is shown in this picture rolling past a flaming Jewish vehicle in the Sheik Jarrah quarter in Jerusalem. The Jewish vehicle crashed into a wall as Arabs sniped at it. Occupants were killed by Arab gunfire after armored car burst into flames.

Putnam Describes Price-Fixing As Unfair to Nation's Farmers

Price-fixing and controls of farm products are "manifestly unfair and unsound" when no manufacturer or worker has pulled any punches in getting the last cent for produce which the farmer must buy, Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam declared in the Legislature yesterday.

Farming was not just an industry, the minister said; it was a way of life, the very foundation of the Canadian way of life, the source of our highest ideals.

"The basis of agriculture must be sound, for on that depends the greatness of our Dominion. The very essence of a sound agriculture is a free farmer, whose only hope of reward for long hours and hard work is a fair price for the product of his toil."

Something must be done to raise the standards of farm life, Mr. Putnam contended, if any young people were to be left in farming.

Estimated farm production for 1947 was $122,000,000 as against imports of agricultural products valued in excess of $50,000,000. Reviewing agricultural development, he recalled that in 1932 production had shrunk to $34,300,000 and imports were $10,300,000.

Noting that the Province had sometimes been criticized for its large agricultural imports, Mr. Putnam suggested that every encouragement be given to new settlers of the right background to increase production of feed grains and other products now being imported from the Prairies.

Only 2 per cent of British Columbia's 234,000,000 acres, or 4,700,000 are suitable for agriculture, and of the latter only 1,000,000 acres are under cultivation, said the minister.

Concluding a review of the special problems in various districts throughout the Province, Mr. Putnam noted that there was evidence of a great trek from Britain to British Columbia in which Vancouver Island was playing a large part. Hundreds of new holdings were being developed as part-time farming in conjunction with employment in logging and other trades.

MAJOR INDUSTRY

Poultry production in the Province had become a major industry, Mr. Putnam noted, and would require the best possible assistance.

The general agricultural situation presented a picture of reasonable stability for the next few years and with present world conditions there was no reason to be worried about overproduction of essential foods.

Elaborating his argument that farmers were getting the thin end of the stick in controlled prices, Mr. Putnam noted that miners were asking for $14 a day, the same as American miners were being paid. American miners, however, were paying 50 to 100 per cent more for butter, eggs, bread, bacon and beef than the Canadian miner was paying.

BULLETINS

Ask Meeting

LONDON, March 24 (AP).—Sixteen Labor members of Parliament called tonight for a meeting soon of President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee and Stalin. They submitted a resolution to that effect to the House of Commons in view of "the rapidly deteriorating political situation in Europe."

Death Cloud

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP).—The United States has developed a radio-active cloud that "kills anyone who comes in contact with it," Glenn L. Martin, airplane manufacturer, said today. "It is effective over a much larger area than is the atom bomb," he said, "and might make the area it touches radioactive for an indefinite time."

Ship Vanishes

LONDON, March 24 (AP).—Fifty-one days ago the freighter Samkey, bound for Cuba out of London, radioed she was north of the Azores. Nothing has been heard since. Tonight Lloyd's officially listed the ship as missing.

Accuses Police Of Brutality

TORONTO, March 25 (Thursday) (CP).—The Globe and Mail today, in a copyright front page story by Jean Poitras quotes the Ottawa-born laborer as saying he was beaten up the night of March 13 by Toronto police officers who took him into custody after a scuffle.

"For from eight to ten minutes . . . I was kicked and beaten while six policement stood by without raising a finger," Poitras says in his first person story. "They seemed amused by the brutality.

"Even when I lay on the police station floor, bleeding and bruised and dazed and pleaded with them for help, they just smiled.

"Three of my front teeth were kicked out. I held them in my hand so they could see. I was beaten some more."

Commissioning Set for April 7

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP).—Canada's new aircraft carrier, H.M.C.S. Magnificent, will be officially commissioned at Belfast April 7, and Commodore H. G. DeWolf, will hoist his pennant as senior Canadian naval officer afloat at the new ship's yardarm.

Magnificent will be manned by the personnel of the H.M.C.S. Warrior, who left the original Canadian carrier Monday, the navy announced today.

Soldiers Dig Gun Positions

TRIESTE, March 24 (AP).—British soldiers moved up closer to the Yugoslav border line in Trieste Territory tonight and dug machine-gun positions for road blocks.

The British Chief Civil Affairs officer, said more British soldiers are being advanced as a precaution.

Barely 2,000 persons attended a Communist political rally, the first since the United States, France and Britain announced they were proposing that all Trieste Territory be returned to Italy.

The rally protested that the military Government had not included Communist representatives in a civilian advisory group.

Telegraph Firms Garner First Sales Tax "Profit"

The Provincial Government's retail sales tax proposal is proving a gold mine for telegraph companies.

Since Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb announced the new impost in his budget speech a week ago, there has been a daily procession of sessional attendants into the legislative chamber to distribute handfuls of telegrams to ministers and private members.

By far the greatest proportion of them contain protests against the new tax.

By last night it was estimated that more than 200 anti-sales tax wires had been handed to members of the House, from merchants' organizations, citizens' groups and individuals all over the Province.

U.S. Warplane Engines Sent to Russia, Poland Witness Tells Congress

Storm Seen Over Pact With Russia

Details Disconcert Traders in Grain

LONDON, March 24 (Reuters).—Some of the closely-guarded details of the Anglo-Russian grain agreement became known today to British grain traders who regarded them as extremely disconcerting.

It was thought that when these details become known to political quarters they might raise a storm.

It was learned the average landed price of the Russian corn received by Britain under this agreement last month was £31 16s. ($127.20) a ton, or $3.20 a bushel.

This is much higher than the average price of Argentine corn at £21 2s. ($4.40) a ton, even though the Argentine price has been widely denounced as extortionate.

The Russian price of approximately $3.20 a bushel compares with a current price for corn in Chicago of about $2.15 a bushel even though the American price has been inflated by the unusually short corn crop.

TRADERS AT LOSS

Grain traders were at a loss to reconcile this news with the favorable descriptions of the Russian grain agreement given in the House of Commons.

It is learned in grain trade quarters that if any dispute arises as to whether the Russian grain is up to the description given by the Russian authorities, the agreement provides that arbitration shall be in Moscow.

All prewar arbitration was in London, and grain traders today were aghast at this change.

Truman Expected to Issue Ban On Export of Military Supplies

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP). — Testimony that United States warplane engines have been shipped to Russia within the last six months and that shipping boxes marked for Russia are lying "all over the New York waterfront" was presented to Congress today.

In rapid-fire order, witnesses made these points before a House sub-committee:

1. Forty-six new engines "suitable for bombers or troop-carrying planes" were shipped from New York to Russia and Poland starting last May and continuing to the end of 1947.

2. Since the end of hostilities the War Assets Administration has sold 21,278 combat-type planes for scrap, at scrap prices, "some of which were obviously new."

3. President Truman is expected to issue a proclamation "within a few days" banning the export of all airplane engines and other supplies used "predominantly for military purposes."

4. The State Department has "not yet worked out its policy on the distinction between shipment of American goods and friendly and unfriendly countries."

High officials of the War Assets Administration and the State Department testified on all these points except the reported shipment of airplane engines to Russia.

ALL OVER DOCKS

Clarence Carruthers, president of the Wall Street aeronautical supplies firm of Carruthers, Inc., told the committee:

"Everybody in New York knows there are boxes and cases marked for Russia lying all over the New York waterfront. They are being loaded every day. They're being loaded this afternoon, for that matter, and they've been loaded for the last three days I know of.

"I've seen diamond (oil-drilling) tools for Russia and other materials ear-marked for Praha (Prague), Czecho-Slovakia," he went on.

"They've brought in 60 Soviet-flag ships flying the hammer and sickle into New York harbor and loaded them with material for Russia since the first of the year. They carry everything from tractors and bulldozers to electric generators."

Asked to name some of the alleged shippers, Carruthers ticked off a list which included Pratt & Whitney, makers of airplane engines, General Electric and Western Electric.

The sub-committee heard from Leroy H. Luckey, a Dallas, Tex., dealer, the story of 46 new plane engines going to Russia and Poland. Lucky said he got them from W.A.A. and sold them to a purchaser he named as Richard F. Pinckle, president of the Alpine Corp., Washington, D.C.

He knew they were sent to Russia and Poland, he testified.

Senator Urges Army Control For Atom Bomb

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP).—The question of turning the atom bomb back to military control in view of the troubled world situation was raised in the Senate today.

Senator Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.) said he had given the matter "much thought" because "it is one of the most vital problems before America today."

The bomb and other atomic energy developments were put under control of a civilian commission more than a year ago.

Bridges mentioned the bomb after a speech in which he called for an all-out fight against Communism at home and abroad.

WANTS RESTRICTION

American help should go only to countries which "irrevocably and publicly align themselves with the United States," said Bridges, chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

He said the United States should encourage underground elements to "undermine Communist tyranny in areas already conquered."

Excise Tax Bill Passes In Spite of Opposition

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP). — The Government's excise tax bill completed a rocky passage through the Commons today by withstanding three vigorous Opposition attempts to defeat it.

CHIEF JUSTICE RINFRET

In a brief night sitting, Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, acting for the Governor-General, gave Royal Assent to 13 bills that have passed both Houses of Parliament.

Parliament then adjourned for its Easter recess, the Commons to April 5, the Senate to April 19.

The bills given assent include measures to extend domestic rent and eviction controls and such price controls as remain, to provide for exchange conservation, to amend the Wheat Board Act, and to continue Federal powers to bulk-buy food for B.Isin.

In a fighting, last-ditch stand against the excise tax legislation, which they termed illegal and unconstitutional, the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties moved three amendments to the bill and saw them all rejected by the Government majority.

The votes were:

1. Seventy-one to 57 against a Progressive Conservative motion to shelve the legislation for six months —a parliamentary device which automatically ensures its defeat. This motion came on second reading, which signifies approval of the principle of the bill.

2. Seventy-one to 54 against a second Progressive Conservative motion to send the bill back to committee for reconsideration of the all-important first section, which also would mean its death. This step came on third and final reading.

3. Seventy to 54 to support Speaker Gaspard Fauteux in a decision ruling out of order a C.C.F. motion that the bill not be read a third time but that the House express the opinion that the Government had acted without constitutional authority in imposing the tax.

High Costs Cancel Imported Cabbage

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP).—The Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association, representing 85 per cent of Canadian fruit and vegetable importers, announced yesterday it could no longer import cabbages and carrots from the United States at present ceiling prices.

Cost of the two vegetables, which have been exempted from the import ban placed on them last November 17 under the Government's dollar-saving program, has "reached a point where importations to sell within the ceiling are impossible and now will cease," the statement said.

Writes of Island

RENNY ENGLEBERT

Author of "This Is Vancouver Island," a book telling the story of ten towns and districts of the Island. Their histories are told with present personalities, progress and plans for the future.

The Island is shown as a place to work and live, rather than to retire, according to the author.

The author has been an Island resident for the past two years. Before coming to Canada he traveled extensively in Europe, the Middle East and India and worked for a well-known publishing house in London.

The book is the result of investigations and observations made on trips up and down the Island, Mr. Englebert says.

Prison Terms For Policemen

AT SEA OFF HAIFA, March 24 (Reuters).—Three British police constables today were sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for the unauthorized carrying of firearms and ammunition and to an additional seven years concurrent for unauthorized possession of a police armored car.

The constables—George Moss, 29, Godfrey Stephenson, 21, and Arthur Akehurst—and the Arab were found innocent on a charge of being members of a body firing on a Jewish colony north of Jerusalem on March 10.

Every Move President Truman Makes Appears to Lessen Chances at Polls

WASHINGTON, March 24 (CP)—President Truman's handling of the $4,800,000,000 tax-cutting bill sent him by Congress today may clinch for him the title—"The man who would rather be right than President."

It was suggested editorially in The Washington Star that perhaps responsibilities of the moment were forcing the President to that conclusion.

Congress has sent down the popular tax-cutting bill which will lighten the burden of most voters in this election year. It applies to 1948 incomes.

Because of his determined stand against tax-cutting the vetoed a similar bill last year; it seems certain the President will send it back with a veto.

This only adds to the unpopular moves he has been forced to make on the eve of the nominating convention and less than eight months away from the elections.

The overwhelming support given this Tax Bill in both Senate and House of Representatives indicates [illegible] ridden. It takes two-thirds of the votes of those present and voting in each House to override a veto.

Here are some more of the Presidents headaches at a time when he is ready to be nominated by the Democratic Party for a full term in the White House:

He antagonized the solid Southern Democrats by asking for Federal legislation ensuring civil rights of colored people.

He is asking Congress for immediate re-enactment of Selective Service to draft men for the armed [illegible] highly unpopular Universal Military Training Bill.

He antagonized Jewish people and other way.

their sympathisers by reversing this country's position in support of the partition of Palestine.

He has bluntly told Communists and their sympathizers that he does not want their support and virtually closed the door to any possible return to the fold of Henry Wallace, who is running a third party campaign which is bound to cut into heretofore Democrat votes.

Now a growing army of former staunch supporters are turning against him, looking about for another candidate and urging him to stay out of the nomination picture.

Idealists suggest this firm stand [illegible] may work to Truman's political advantage. But the signs point the

Driver Injured In Street Crash

Joseph Rainey, 2310 Richmond Avenue, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon with a dislocated shoulder and head cuts following a motorcycle-autocycle collision.

City police said the accident occurred at 5:20 p.m. when the motorcycle being driven south on Shelbourne Street by Alfred Jollymore, 510 Wilson Street, was in collision with the autocycle.

Police said that apparently the autocycle, being driven by Mr. Rainey, failed to stop at stop sign while proceeding east on Bay Street.

Hospital officials reported the injured man to be resting comfortably.

Mrs. Robert Aylward Dies in Prairie City

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Aylward, 82, formerly of Victoria and recently of Calgary, will be held in the Alberta city tomorrow.

Mrs. Aylward died in Calgary Tuesday. Her body will be forwarded to Victoria for burial on Saturday. Prior to moving to Alberta, Mrs. Aylward resided in this city. Her husband, Rev. Robert Aylward, died here in 1929.

Farmer's Children Enjoy Easter Eggs Year Round

MONROE, N.Y., March 24 (AP).—If an egg hunt makes an Easter, it's a year-round holiday for the five Brower children. Brower chickens lay eggs of all colors.

It is not chance, however, Ward Brower, Jr., their father, has spent more than 20 years breeding and cross-breeding rare and common fowls, always with the idea of achieving what he called "Easter egg chickens."

He finally has done it. The remote grandparents of his chickens (which look like slightly rakish versions of the ordinary barnyard types) were the rare Araukanian fowls, found among Chilean Indians. Not only were Araukanians without tails and with feather ear muffs, but—alone among the chicken family—they laid blue eggs.

Brower, a chicken fancier since childhood, acquired three Araukanians 20 years ago. To his dismay he found the hens laid common brown eggs.

He is a persistant man, this 42-year-old Brower, so he began breeding his Araukanians back to their native habit of blue eggs.

"Those Chilean Indians thought everything the white man did was perfect, so they crossed their fowl with European breeds," Brower said. "Finally I managed to get some eggs with a little color in them, and just kept going from them."

WIDE VARIETY

Today he has a small flock which daily produces a few dozen real Easter eggs, pastel blues, greens, soft pinks and ruddy rouge. He even has coffee-colored eggs which he says in time he can darken almost to black. Now that he's off to a positive start on the brighter colors, Brower is sure he can get vivid blues and reds.

"Think of it," he said dreamily, "this will change the whole industry."

Meanwhile Brower lets the older of his own brood enjoy a daily egg hunt.

They love to gather them—it's a real game with them," he said. "Any child will love an egg hunt in the chicken house—when the eggs are all different colors."

A new flame-proofing substance made from coal chemicals is being made for flame-proofing aprons, mattresses and other textiles.

No Reply Given On Ship Tieup

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP). — The Government is still awaiting the reply of shipowners to latest proposals for settlement of the deep-sea officers' strike, Labor Minister Mitchell told the Commons today.

Replying to a question from Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) as to progress made toward settling the strike, Mr. Mitchell read to the House a telegram from one of the officers' unions outlining settlement terms.

The wire was from the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (deck officers) in Vancouver, and its terms for immediate settlement were:

1. Full implementation of the report of a Federal conciliator on the understanding that the points at difference would be settled through an arbitration board. The points are those of hourly overtime and leave.

2. No striker to be penalized under the Canada Shipping Act.

3. No striker to be discriminated against by the shipowners.

Similiar terms had been put before the shipowners on behalf of the men by Mr. Mitchell last week, and he told the House he was still awaiting their reply. He declared he could say no more at present.

Rotary Club Considering Plan To Build New Tourist Bureau

Members of the Victoria Rotary Club may soon be asked to endorse a plan calling for the raising of money for the construction of a modern building to serve as a "tourist information bureau" of the Chamber of Commerce, it was learned yesterday.

The proposed building, it is reported, would be built on, or adjacent to, the Causeway.

From unofficial sources it was learned the project might cost between $12,000 and $15,000.

Prior to any definite announcement regarding the unit, a considerable amount of preliminary plans have to be completed. A tentative plan of the building has already been prepared, but it is expected it will undergo a number of changes if the project should receive the "go" sign from the club members.

If built, the "information bureau" would be staffed by personnel now working at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau offices at present in the Arcade Building. At its present location, the bureau is reached after a lengthy climb up a steep flight of stairs from Government Street.

TRACK REMOVAL

Removal of approximately five and one-half miles of the city's street car rails is expected to commence within the next three weeks, Cyril Jones, acting city engineer, said yesterday.

Contract for the removal of street car rails was awarded to Pancher & Pancher, a California concern, whose tender of $106,399 was the lower of two submitted.

The firm will bring certain specialized equipment and key men to the city for the work and it is expected will employ about 40 local workmen.

NEW PARK

Creation of a new provincial Class "A" park in North Saanich was approved by order in council yesterday. Containing about five acres, the park is on East Saanich Road, inland from Shoal Harbor.

The area was bequeathed to the Province for recreation of the public by the late Alexander McDonald of Sidney, and yesterday's order officially names it "McDonald Provincial Park."

Speaker Fears World Conflict May Come of Palestine Strife

Fear that present conflict in Palestine may ultimately prepare that country as a centre for the start of World War III, was expressed by Sir Robert Holland yesterday in an address before the Victoria branch of the White Cane Club at the Prince Robert House.

"There is a danger," he said, "that the Russians may try to utilize any opening in Palestine as a means of getting her troops there, thereby obtaining a foothold on the Mediterranean."

"The Russians," he continued, "have no sympathy for the Arabs, and they will adopt and follow any policy they believe would embarrass the United States and Great Britain."

In his address, entitled "The Peril of Palestine," Sir Robert noted the United States' recent "complete reversal" of policy in its decision not to support the partition scheme. "The United States now realizes that it (the partitioning of the country) was wrong in the first place."

"The United States realizes now the grave dangers of such a partition."

OPPOSE TRUSTEESHIP

He noted the Zionists and Arabs were opposed to any trusteeship plan for the governing of Palestine, "and they are committed to keep on fighting."

Death roll in the Palestine fighting, since the partition plan was announced last November, now stands at more than 2,000, of which 120 have been British casualties. This is in addition to wounded and great property damage.

Sir Robert, who has made a close and detailed study of the Palestine issue, claimed "the partition scheme was wrong from the first . . . it constituted a violation of charter principles, it was against the principle of self-determination, it was against righteousness and justice."

More than 50 members of the club attended the meeting, one of the organization's monthly "Empire Information Study" sessions.

Victoria branch, White Cane Club, is supported by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Display Unique On Continent Opens in City

Unique in North America and duplicated only by shows held in London, the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society opened the doors of its large and attractive show in Crystal Garden yesterday at 2 p.m.

More than 30 persons entered Spring flowers, boughs of blossom, flowering shrubs, miniature trees and alpine plants from all parts of the world, to be placed in open competition.

In addition, more than ten nursery operators exhibited large and colorful displays as non-competitors.

Attended by a large opening crowd, doors opened yesterday afternoon and will reopen tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. until 9:30 p.m.

Attracting much attention yesterday was a rock garden display in miniature. Four-feet square in colorful garden setting, it is complete with paths, miniature rock and alpine plants, shrubs and water pools.

Officers of the society donating much time to success of opening are: W. H. A. Preece, president; Alan Morkill, immediate past-president, and J. J. Worth, vice-president, and members.

Retail Group Considers Tax

Matters pertaining to a provincial sales tax were discussed at a meeting of the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce, held behind closed doors yesterday.

Newspaper representatives were asked to leave the Chamber of Commerce board room immediately prior to the commencement of the discussion.

An announcement regarding the meeting will be made this morning, it is reported.

It is believed the group forwarded a resolution to the Provincial Government in which opposition to the sales tax was expressed.

Need to Enlarge Saanich Hall Emphasized by Municipal Clerk

Lack of space in the Saanich Municipal Hall is causing much concern, John B. Tribe, municipal clerk, said yesterday.

Mr. Tribe said the hall was built in 1916 when it housed only 16 employees, and today with only a few additions, the same structure has 48 employees within its walls.

"Lack of space is bound to result in lack of efficiency," said Mr Tribe.

Ratepayers defeated a referendum last December to build a $50,000 extension to the hall. About $40,000 of that sum would have come from the Provincial Government relief fund, which the municipality will now use for road improvements, if the Provincial Government approves.

Following defeat of the referendum, the council instructed F. S. Green, assessor and collector, and J. Taylor, building inspector, to draw up a plan with only absolute necessities included. This was done and the $20,000 estimate for the extension has been referred to the estimates committee.

MUCH DOUBLING-UP

Mr. Tribe said yesterday the proposed plan calls for an extension to the west end of the building and a smaller addition to the north end.

At present, he said, machines are operating in the same office as the telephone operator, and actually the machines should be in a separate soundproof room. Under the new plan this is called for.

Mr. Tribe said there is a lack of vault space, and at present valuable records have to be left out overnight.

"This is an extremely poor practice and should be remedied as soon as possible," stated Mr. Tribe.

At present, according to Mr. Tribe, the assessor and collector, Mr. Green, has no office in which to work. Other municipal officials are sharing offices.

"We have even brought the council chambers into use at busy times," said Mr. Tribe.

T.C.A. Revises South B.C. Route

WINNIPEG, March 24.—Changes in the Canadian Pacific Air Lines schedule for flights between Calgary and Vancouver via the Okanagan-Kootenay route were announced today by R. W. Ryan, general manager. Effective April 20, the revised schedule is designed to make better connections with C.P.R. trans-continental trains, and also eliminates changing of aircraft at Cranbrook.

Plea's Wording Raises Sparks In Legislature

A C.C.F. attack on the wording of literature sent out to schools in support of the Canadian Appeal for Children drew spirited defence from Education Minister W. T. Straith in the Legislature yesterday.

A. T. Turner (C.C.F., Vancouver East) quoted at length from a printed circular painting a harrowing picture of hardships in Europe, and declared:

"I submit this isn't good for the morale of our children. There are other ways of spreading appeals through the community without blackening the minds of little children."

His criticism was directed at the Education Department, and it brought Mr. Straith to his feet to tell the House:

"The department does not encourage appeals in schools, but it has no jurisdiction over them. It refers them to local school boards.

"The paper just read was sponsored by the United Nations and the Dominion of Canada, and I have no hesitation in saying that I give it my blessing."

Tourist Boom Indicated By Letters

Over the past several days the Evergreen Playground Association—with membership from Victoria, Vancouver, Tacoma and Seattle—has run its first advertisement aimed at attracting tourists to the Pacific Northwest.

The advertisement was carried in California newspapers, and already the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has received more than 250 inquiries from Californians anxious to come to this city and the Island this Summer.

Each inquiry has been answered with a courteous and friendly letter, a map of the city and Island, and various folders.

"I guess we can expect thousands of such inquiries throughout the Summer," remarked G. I. Warren, commissioner of the bureau.

The advertisement was the first in a series to be run in newspapers and magazines throughout a number of the states, throughout the Summer.

Service Cadets Given New Uniform

A new service uniform for all cadets at Royal Roads will make an appearance on Victoria streets this Autumn.

Old hands at Royal Roads—navy and air force cadets at present—will continue to wear their uniforms until they graduate. All new cadets entering the college in the Autumn, including army cadets, will don the new dress.

Patterned after the prewar Royal Military College uniform, except for the "pill box" hat, the new dress will be navy blue, featuring gilt "Canadian Services Colleges" buttons. R.M.C. will also sport the new uniforms.

With Oxford-grey greatcoats and capes, the cadets will top off the ensemble with navy blue wedge caps securely fastened with chin straps.

World War "wedgies" could be unbuttoned to form a chin strap, but the practice was seldom seen.

New colors for both R.M.C. and Royal Roads will be dark blue, red, and light blue, replacing the R.M.C. red and white and the Royal Roads blue and white. The tie and belt, worn with recreational dress of grey flannels and blue blazer, will also be of those colors.

Outline Petition To Meeting

Rev. H. McConnell, acting chairman, outlined preparation of a petition by the executive of the provincial council, advocating compulsory insurance for old-age pensioners, at a monthly meeting of Victoria Branch No. 5, Old-Age Pensioners Association, last night.

Also advocated was the increas- [illegible] "means test" and a form of compulsory insurance. The meeting approved all recommendations.

Post-Mortem

The Maclean report on the Cameron report on educational costs is a little like a post-mortem and it will have about the same effect. The report has been in the hands of the Provincial Government for two months, so that what has followed has superseded the main weight of the report itself. That argued that the Government should exercise more control over school costs, but as the Government have refused to assume the costs of education as requested by the municipalities the occasion for that control has lessened. On the contrary, if the municipalities are to continue to bear the heaviest part of the burden of educational financing, the City Councils should be given a good deal more discretion over what school budgets they will approve. They have virtually none now.

The undeniable difficulty of the situation is that the Province sets the curriculum and states what program the schools of British Columbia must carry out. As the cities have proved, they are carrying 61 per cent of the cost of that program now, to the Province's 39 per cent. A two-for-me-and-one-for-you provincial division of the proposed sales tax will not alter that disparity, but only increase it. Meanwhile not a few school budgets are going to arbitration now in British Columbia. That was all their respective councils could do with them. The awards of the arbitration panels, however, will be final, and in that it remains to be seen wherein the municipalities will be any better off.

It is beyond argument that school costs have risen in the last three years faster than the ability of British Columbia communities to pay them. If the Government do not think so they would do well to sit in one evening with any British Columbia school board while it is considering its 1948 budget. It was to cure this situation that the municipalities asked for more help. So far no real solution has come.

Many Happy Returns

The Vancouver Daily Province will attain its fiftieth birthday on Good Friday, half a century from the time it was founded in the embryo settlement on the shores of Burrard Inlet in 1898. Our progressive contemporary has recorded day by day the meteoric rise of that community, until today Vancouver is among the largest trading centres in Canada and justly proud of its opportunities and its name.

In its fiftieth anniversary edition, which will be on the streets today, The Vancouver Daily Province will have abundant opportunity to highlight the significant events it has seen in those five swiftly-moving decades. In a sense they portray the rise of British Columbia from a frontier outpost to the third trading Province in Canada.

To the men, the brains and initiative which have gone into those fifty years of enterprising journalism will go genuine tribute today from newspaper circles across Canada. Men such as the late Walter Cameron Nichol; the cartoonist, Fitzmaurice; "Jim" Butterfield in his "The Common Round"; these and many another will be recalled in the public's mind.

In wishing The Vancouver Daily Province many happy returns of the day, this paper likes to hope that the next fifty years will be as meaningful in all that makes for the prosperity of British Columbia.

Deeds Are What Count

Not once but eleven separate times during his initial American address did Mr. Alexander S. Panyushkin, the new Russian ambassador to the United States, declare that the Soviet state wants to live at peace with all other countries. That no doubt would be why it has used twenty-odd United Nations vetos to prevent peaceful measures being set in motion by the world organization.

The new Soviet representative spoke at a meeting of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, a customary forum for promoting friendly relations through the exercise of unbridled accusation and distortion. Its neighbor is in this country, an agency which offers Soviet sympathizers fine opportunity for attacking Canada's affiliations under the guise of friendship. Mr. Panyushkin was no different, even though his status as a diplomat should normally betoken a more graceful approach. One wonders what would be the reception should Mr. Bedell Smith, the American ambassador to Russia, speak in like terms to a Moscow audience.

Mr. Panyushkin repeated the now familiar technique of accusing others of doing precisely what the Soviet state is doing. There was the same old talk of "international reaction," of Mr. Churchill, of forces trying to stir up enmity against Russia. No one, as has become evident all too painfully, has done more to turn nations against Russia than the Soviet state itself. Presumably of its own choice Russia has by its aggressive appetite destroyed the large reservoir of good will which existed in its favor so recently as two years ago.

With recollections of half a dozen nations forcibly sucked into the maw of Soviet power it will take more than Mr. Panyushkin's verbal assertions to make North America believe that Russia has "always stood and stands now for peace and international co-operation." If that were really so, all he would have to do would be to appear at the United Nations and demonstrate that deeds, rather than words, were the real criterion.

New Perspective

Perhaps the most [illegible] proposals advanced by Sir John Anderson in the British House of Commons regarding atomic bomb shelters is the contrast his remarks make with former statements published about the effects of this explosive agency. From the results described as following the Hiroshima bomb and the Bikini tests it has been generally assumed that widespread desolation was inevitable, joined with radioactive conditions that would seal off the affected area for some time. Yet here is the former British Cabinet Minister talking in terms similar to those made familiar through wartime use of the shelters that bore his name.

Sir John Anderson is no naive politician advancing an uninformed opinion. Besides being a distinguished diplomat and member of the wartime coalition administration, he is the past chairman of the British Advisory Committee on Atomic Energy. He is a scientific student of some note. When he talks about surface shelters in crowded areas, of paper protection against flash burning, of contamination detectors, and of concrete and sandbags to prevent radiation, it must be taken for granted he knows whereof he speaks.

His words reduce the effects of nuclear fission to an easier level of understanding. They suggest that undeniably baleful though an atomic bomb may be, a perhaps unnecessary degree of awe and mystery has hitherto been attached to this new weapon of destruction. The measures he advocates indicate that it might be possible after all to cope with atomic bombs more successfully than the world has been led to believe. Were this not so it is difficult to believe a responsible person like Sir John Anderson would be able to outline in simple terms defensive measures not so greatly different from what were put into operation against lesser bombs during the recent war.

Track Removal

If current reports are correct and the cost of removing five and a half miles of street car tracks will amount to $106,399 on the lowest tender made to the City of Victoria, how much will it cost eventually to remove or cover all of the surface rails in the street traction system? There were originally ten or eleven street car routes in the community, fanning out in all directions to the surrounding municipalities. Current work at the figure cited contemplates the removal of street car tracks equivalent at best to three of those routes. That leaves a heavy remainder.

It may be part of the city's plan to cover some of the tracks over and so incorporate them into the new road surfacing. That could alter the outlook considerably. Reference to that plan has been made from time to time, and no doubt it has not been discarded. Certainly it would seem to be the less costly way, if satisfactory assurance can be obtained that such a road surface will stand up to traffic in the future.

It seems fairly obvious that to lift all the street car tracks in the community would run into a considerable sum of money. Ten or eleven routes, each running a mile and a half or more, even with common tracks imply a considerable mileage. At a cost of $106,399 for every five and a half miles, the bill for that would be heavy. Nor can it be forgotten that the removal of the rails is precedent to the remaking of the roads, a very heavy item in itself.

Seen in Passing

We are still sorry for the motorist in British Columbia. By the time he gets through covering himself with insurance, takes out his annual driver's licence and car registration certificate, buys his twice-taxed gasoline for five cents more, and drives to the office—he will be just in time to receive the second round of imposts when a provincial sales tax and a civic business tax go on. They are coming, of course. The motorist who is a businessman will feel them both in the same place, his pocket.

Atlantic Crossing

Frank M Kelley

Some time ago I wrote something about first steamship passages of the Atlantic in which the Royal William, Quebec-built vessel, was credited with being the first ship to cross that ocean steam-driven all the way. This is apparently a subject that will provide argument as long as shipping men remain loyal to the story of their ships and rejoice in the achievements of their own nationals in the development of commercial steamships.

A few days ago an interested student of marine history rang up and wanted to know if I was aware of an anniversary which gives Britain some measure of credit in pioneering Atlantic crossings under steam. Passage of the Atlantic by the Sirius was a first for the Old Country, and would I write something about it on or about March 28, the date she left London for New York back in 1838.

It was one hundred and ten years ago, Sunday next, when the Sirius, 703-ton vessel sailed from the Thames with saloon, fore-cabin and steerage passengers. Taking her departure from Cork on April 4, she reached New York 18½ days later. While she was the first Old Country commercial steamship to cross from east to west, her record of 18½ days was broken within twenty-four hours, when the Great Western, another British vessel, entered New York next day to complete a crossing in fifteen days.

CAUSED EXCITEMENT

Needless to state, the arrival of the two British vessels within twenty-four hours caused a lot of excitement on the New York waterfront. The achievements of the ships had demonstrated to marine-minded men of the time that the days of the sailing vessel were about to pass.

The story of the arrival of the two vessels within a day of each other, when it eventually got around the world, created new vistas for ambitious traders and started an era of ship construction which is still probably far from the peak.

Among the men who envisioned great posaibilities (long since realized) for steam shipping was the Canadian, Samuel Cunard, founder of the Cunard Line. In his Halifax home he had for some time been considering building a fleet of vessels to carry passengers, freight and mails between Europe and America on a schedule which would mean weekly sailings.

Interested in the Royal William, built at Quebec in 1831, the first vessel to make the west to east passage of the Atlantic and which was later sold to Spain, Cunard had persisted in his belief that the future of shipping was definitely identified with the steam engine.

It may be said that the performances of the Sirius and the Great Western increased his determination to put into effect the plans he had been developing for some years. In 1839 he commenced to build his fleet.

The Sirius, which made Atlantic shipping history and gave British shipbuilders and operators great prestige, was built at Leith, Scotland. She was originally designed for a cross-channel run between England and Ireland. She was a side-wheeler, her paddles being twenty-four feet in diameter. All of 178 feet in length, with sails on all three masts, she cost what was then considered a colossal sum —$135,000.

Main interest created by the performance of the Sirius was centred in the engines, which had functioned to such good effect during the entire passage of the Atlantic. There were two two-cylinder side-lever engines, fitted with surface condensers similar to those now in use, while fresh water was used in the boilers.

The trans-Atlantic life of the Sirius was not lengthy. She made but two round trips between the British Isles and the United States. In the meantime she found favor with travelers desiring speedy crossings. Among her passengers on the first voyage out of New York for Falmouth was James Gordon Bennett, founder of The New York Herald.

OVERTOOK MAIL SHIP

Homeward-bound that trip the Sirius and the advantages of steam were to get some unlooked-for publicity. Overtaking a British Post Office Department sailing vessel, which had been badly battered by heavy weather and was then making no headway toward her destination, the steam vessel undertook to carry the mails the rest of the way. When these were transferred she proceeded on her way and soon passed out of sight hull down.

A passenger on the sailing vessel was Judge Haliburton, of Nova Scotia, who was a writer of some renown in his day. He was known as "Sam Slick," his pen name. When he arrived in England he told of the wonderful performance of the Sirius. This publicity was mainly responsible for the Admiralty calling for tenders for a steam mail contract.

Samuel Cunard and his backers secured that contract; and as a result the Cunard Line was born, the first vessel, named the Britannia, sailing from Boston on July 4, 1840.

"It Is Hard to Grow Up" — Thompson

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

I think (and reluctantly) that President Truman's call for upbuilding the armed strength of the country is necessary. I do not know that it will bring peace, nor do I believe in the honesty of any candidate for office who promises, without question, peace and the freedom of the nation and of its people, too.

But whereas ten days ago I would have guessed there was more than an even chance of war, I think it is reduced since the president's call.

It is hard to grow up—which process some never achieve—and learn what Sophocles and Shakespeare knew: that human life is essentially tragic. The essence of tragedy is that man, seeking the good, accomplishes evil.

Our tragic dilemma is that we are perpetually compelled to choose between courses, none of which is wholly confirmed by our consciences. There is no existing form of human society which can be affirmed in honesty as the ideal we hold in our minds. But perhaps it is because modern man, having made himself god, has invented the concept of a realm of earth where everyone will be perpetually happy, perpetually cared for and free of want and fear from the cradle to the grave, that we are all so insecure.

The concept is infantile, even prenatal—a return to the womb. It ends up logically in the desire never to have been born—which is despair. For the world of the ideal—perfect peace—is incompatible with life itself which is perpetual struggle, perpetual becoming, advance and set back, growth and decline, and always fateful choice.

Yet we have to choose or remain forever in a nursery—a cold nursery, it can be, too, with the fires out, and the cupboard bare, and no one to feed us with a spoon.

What we have to choose between now is not war or peace. We have to choose between the risk of one kind of war, or the certainty of another. The certain was that has, for instance, come to Czechoslovakia, is the fruit of nonresistance. That war is the reign of perpetual terror. It is the war that begins after the people have been disarmed, and is continued to prevent them from rearming, physically or spiritually.

Such a war operates by fear—fear of death, fear of torture, fear of the police, fear of the penal camp and the labor brigade, through which manhood is unmanned, and reduced to groveling. It rewards the informer, the traitor, the torturer, the spy, the mob-leader, the liar, the destroyer. It penalizes the truthful, the affectionate, the courageous, and the protective.

No sooner does any man join with it than we see the manifestation of its corruption. Monstrous and poisonous lies drop from his lips, like the toads in the fairy tale, leaping out among the people to be fondled from hand to hand.

The risk of one sort of war is great destruction of life and matter. The certainty of the other is the end of civilization itself, and barbarism.

Russia has not produced one revolution but three: Leninism, Stalinism, and now Zhdanovism. And with the last the nihilism always dormant in the strange, formless Russian land, is breaking forth—the revolution of total destruction, in essence, aimless; devoid now of ideal or objective, beyond the objective of destruction and power for their own sake; carried out by technicians of the coup d'etat, cynical scoundrels.

There is no possible compromise with it, as all have seen clearly—as Jan Masaryk finally saw.

What will not yield to compromise must be met uncompromisingly; the other choice is suicide—the darkness. It is not given us to choose between perfect sun and that darkness—the darkness at noon. But wherever there is some liberty, some humanity, some civilization, some goodness, we must move to their side. We must make the decision—the forces of darkness have been theirs.

The Packsack

of GREGORY CLARK

Blue Dan, a Nipigon Indian guide in whom I place great faith, used the word supersonic. It is, he stated, a supersonic day for fishing. I asked him what the word meant.

"I don't know," admitted Blue Dan; "I read it in a newspaper. It is a beautiful word."

Supersonic, I then explained, meant faster than sound. This puzzled Blue Dan. Why, he asked, do you want a word meaning faster than sound, when all you have to say is—faster than sound? Aren't there enough words already?

This naturally led to an enlightening discussion on airplanes and rockets. The whole of white civilization, I informed Blue Dan, was striving to produce an aircraft or a rocket that was supersonic—that is, faster than sound can travel.

"Why?" asked Blue Dan.

"It is part of a great program," I explained, "for the improvement of the human race."

"How will it improve them," he inquired, "if they get supersonic?"

"Don't you see?" I cried, "we will be able to get improvements to them so fast they won't even be able to hear them coming. In fact, they won't even know they are improved."

Blue Dan studied me earnestly for a moment, and then slowly bared his teeth in a genuine Ojibway grin.

"I bet you don't know," he said, "what you mean either. I often think white people don't know what anything means."

He began to scrub out the frying pan with a wad of newspaper. Suddenly he paused, held the wad of paper up before his eyes and pretended to be engrossed in the type he could see, all smeared with bacon grease.

"Words!" he chuckled. "Words! I am glad I am an Indian."

"Dan," I said, rising from the campfire, "it's a supersonic day for fishing."

Must Clean Up—Housewners wishing to sell or rent their houses should clean up and paint their houses. It is reported that there are quite a number of houses for sale which are in a bad state, but with a bit of attention, a clean-up and paint-up, these houses would be quite attractive.

It is located at the foot of Belmont Road and will be for the purpose of facilitating delivery of supplies to the ships. Its estimated cost will be around $1,000.

Office work tends to lessen a man's endurance," a customer remarked to Bill, the Broad Street barber. "I suppose you mean the more a man sits the less he can stand?" Bill inquired. "Quite so. It also follows that if a man lies a lot his standing is lost completely," the customer added . . . The time-honored missing-cylinder joke goes on forever. Last week a woman drove into a Vancouver Street garage and said to a mechanic: "I had to come up the hill in low gear. The car seems to have no power." The mechanic made a few tests and replied: "There is a cylinder missing." The woman answered with considerable surprise: "But that is impossible. There is a double lock on the garage door" . . . "Hey, ma, what is an heirloom?" a Vancouver Street boy asked his mother. "An heirloom is something handed down from father to son and kept in the family," she replied. "Is that what you call dad's coat you cut down for me?" the lad continued . . . The Ways and Means Committee of the United States House of Representatives is considering a bill which would allow United States tourists to bring home $500 worth of goods from Canada, free of customs duty. The present $100 limit was established in 1882 . . . Some students of political affairs believe there is a strong possibility Communists will gain control in Italy at the general elections on April 18, which result might lead to civil war. In 1946 elections, Communists and their followers gained 45 per cent of the total votes cast . . . The eating of hot cross buns is a pagan custom. THE DEATH SENTENCE

Sir,—The move towards ending capital punishment in Canada has support in these considerations:

The death penalty for murder has already been abolished in some 29 countries. A criminal sentence should in general be the least that will effect its purpose. But capital punishment has proved both excessive and futile as a deterrent from crimes of violence. In no country has a permanent rise in the homicide rate followed its abolition, and in almost every case there has been a steady subsequent decrease.

It has actually defeated the ends of justice in the not infrequent cases of persons eventually found innocent after being executed. It needlessly deprives the offender not only of life but of all chance of rehabilitation.

The penalty fails to deter. Crimes of violence and murder are committed either in a state of emotion (jealousy, rage, revenge, drunkenness, abnormal impulse) not susceptible to weighing of consequences; or with the hope of escaping detection. It is thus itself a gratuitous cruelty.

The death penalty is socially harmful; it accustoms those concerned in its execution to a violation of the dictates of humanity, and for the general public the issue of life and death turns a criminal case into an exciting and even enjoyable melodrama.

A proposal to abolish capital punishment is now before the British Parliament, a select committee on this issue having several years ago recommended the complete suspension of death penalty for an experimental period of five years. Is it not time Canada followed the example of countries like Norway, Sweden, Holland, Denmark and Belgium which have had no cause to regret the demise of capital punishment 30 to 40 years ago?

According to Culbertson

(Copyright, 1948, by Ely Culbertson)

In the majority of deals declarer must strive to conserve his trumps so that he can control (by ruffing) one or more of the plain suits. At times, however, this process must be directly reversed; declarer should try to cash in all the low trumps possible, and make no effort toward trump-drawing. Consider this case:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH
♠ A 6 4
♥ Q 9 7 3
♦ K 6 4 2

WEST
♠ K J 10
♥ J 6
♦ Q J 5
♣ 10 6 7 5 3

EAST
♠ Q 9 8 5 3 2
♥ A 10 4 3
♦ 9 8
♣ K

SOUTH
♥ K 8 5
♦ A 10 7 3
♣ A Q J 4 3

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | Pass | 1 N.T. | 3 ♣ |
| 3 ♣ | Double | Pass | Pass |

The bidding is decidedly not recommended. North's response to one club should have been one diamond, not one no trump, and South's free rebid of clubs was not exactly conservative. However, South made up for this bid by the way he handled the dangerous contract.

West opened the spade king. The ace won, and a low spade was immediately ruffed with the club three. A diamond was led to the king, and dummy's last spade was ruffed with the four-spot. Declarer now laid down the heart king. East won and returned a diamond. Declarer hopped up with the ace and led a heart to the queen.

South had taken six tricks, and the blank king of clubs in East's hand made it impossible for him to go wrong on his remaining A-Q-J. Thus the contract was fulfilled.

The important feature of the play was that declarer brought home his low, losing trumps by ruffing, and at the end, West was in the annoying position of holding more trumps than he had any use for.

Trieste Again Hot Spot in Cold War

WITH joint proposal of United States, Great Britain and France that Free Territory of Trieste be returned to Italy, this former Italian seaport again becomes focal point in the cold war between Western democracies and Soviet Union and her satellites. Trieste, marked with an arrow, is garrisoned by handful of British and American troops while across Yugoslav border Marshal Tito is believed to have massed overwhelming military power. Three-power proposal was given Soviet embassy, Italian embassy and Yugoslav embassy in U.S. State Department communication.

Pattern of Yugoslavia's Actions Makes Trieste Future Uncertain

TRIESTE, March 24 (Reuters).—The 270,000 inhabitants of this sunny but windswept Adriatic port with its tempestuous history do not seem worried at the moment, but they are uncertain about the immediate future.

They do not expect any sudden attempted coup by Yugoslav Premier Tito—not while 10,000 British and American troops are garrisoned here and while Anglo-American naval units lie in the port.

But they are very worried that the Yugoslavs might become decidedly more aggressive if and when the proposal by Britain, the United States and France that Trieste be restored to Italy is put into effect and Anglo-American forces leave.

Still fresh in their memories are the events of September 16 when after the ratification of the Italian peace treaty a Yugoslav column 2,000 strong attempted to march into Trieste and was turned back by exactly 12 United States soldiers.

And Trieste residents do not call to mind with any pleasure those 43 days in 1945 when Yugoslavs held the town after its liberation. An estimated 10,000 Trieste residents were arrested and taken to Yugoslavia and of 6,000 nothing more was ever heard.

Senate Votes To Reinsert Grain Clause

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP).—A rebellion against potential state marketing of oats and barley ran its course among members of the Senate today, from triumph to defeat.

The Senate's banking committee voted 15 to 8 to delete from a Government bill to amend the Canada Grain Board Act a clause that would empower the board to handle sale of the coarse grains.

Later, the chamber itself voted 25 to 17 to re-insert the clause, with ten Liberals supporting the seven Progressive Conservatives who backed the committee recommendation.

IN SAME FORM

The bill was given third and final reading in the same form in which it came from the Commons. In addition to the contentious clause, it authorizes an increase in the initial wheat payment, establishes a pension fund for wheat board employees and empowers the board to control interprovincial movement of wheat products.

Its heetic passage through the Senate paralleled its troubles in the Commons, which were climaxed when Trade Minister Howe virtually asked the Liberals to vote against the Government on his motion to split the bill in two to allow separate consideration of the marketing clause.

In the Senate vote, the seven Liberals who voted against state marketing and for the committee recommendation included Senators J. P. Howden (L.—Manitoba), W. A. Buchanan (L.—Alberta), T. A. Crerar (L.—Manitoba), and C. P. Beaubien (L.—Manitoba).

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Leader, sparked opposition to the clause both in committee and in the Chamber, but he got support from Liberals, including two former Cabinet ministers, Senators Crerar and W. D. Euler.

He moved the amendment which passed on the later vote.

Senator Wishart Robertson, Liberal leader, opposed it in committee and in the Chamber. The Government, he said, considered it the most important clause of the bill and would re-insert it in the Commons if the Senate took it out.

LONDON, March 24 (CP).—A bomb-damaged west-end mansion once valued at £40,000 ($160,000) has been purchased by the Canadian Government as a permanent residence for Norman Robertson, Dominion High Commissioner in London, and his successors, The Canadian Press learned today.

Canada House declined to confirm that the sale was completed but who is water, estate agents said the mansion has been sold for between £20,000 and £25,000.

Once one of London's finest homes, it was badly damaged during the war.

V.I. Engineers Plan Meeting

Approximately 60 members of the recently formed Vancouver Island branch of the British Columbia Engineering Society are expected to attend a dinner meeting at Lougheed's Banquet Club next Tuesday, starting at 6.30 p.m.

Prof. Frank Forward, president of the provincial organization, and associated with the University of British Columbia, will attend as guest speaker. The meeting will mark the first official function of the Island branch since its formation early this year.

J. S. Kendrick is chairman of the Island unit, and A. J. Saunders is vice-chairman. W. C. MacKenzie was named secretary. With officers serving on the board of directors are J. A. Merchant and H. D. Dawson. Membership within the group is open to engineers of practically all fields, and any such persons interested are invited to attend the Tuesday night meeting.

Mr. Kendrick said yesterday there were close to 200 members of the British Columbia organization on Vancouver Island. It is hoped a majority of them will soon become associated with the newly formed Island section.

The world is watching and waiting for the forthcoming Italian elections which have become a test of strength between the United States and Russia. John P. McKnight, veteran Associated Press writer, explains the issues of the balloting which may determine whether Italy will face East or West.

By JOHN P. McKNIGHT

ROME, March 24 (AP) — Italy's nerves are jumpy today — a little more than three weeks before her elections April 18—the next major battle of the East-West cold war.

Italy is restless and somewhat short-tempered under the millions of eyes staring as she gets ready to choose her new republic's first parliament and her future way of life.

If this avid attention helps an inferiority complex derived from the shattering of Fascism's gaudy dream of empire, it is also disconcerting.

Against the will of most Italians, Italy has become the battleground where the Capitalist Democracy of the United States and the Communism of Rusia may engage.

DIFFICULT CHOICE

Increasing her irritation is her feeling that, because of her new importance in an embattled world the election gives her only this difficult choice:

If the Communist - dominated popular front wins, many Italians think their country in time will become another Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary or Czecho-Slovakia. If Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrats and their anti-Communist allies win civil war will be hard to avoid.

Geography, for one thing, makes the Italian elections momentous.

Italy thrusts far into the Mediterranean, and so bulwarks Greece, Turkey and the vital Near East. She faces Communist Yugoslavia across the narrow Adriatic, abuts Trieste, connects through the Brenner Pass with occupied Austria and flanks Switzerland and France.

If Italy goes Communist, many here believe France and all Western Europe will follow. Then Russia would stand on the shores of the Atlantic.

But Italy is vital for other reasons.

A British observer said: "Here for the first time we are playing on our home grounds—and under our rules. If the Communists win in an honest election (and I think it will be that) what do we do? Reimpose our own brand of Democracy by force? What is left of democracy, then? We become the totalitarians."

Finally, Italy has sentimental value. Rome is the ancient mother of the West. The country boasts some of the proudest monuments to western civilization's cultural achievements. Here is the seat of the church of 350,000,000 Roman Catholics.

The world situation has pretty well dictated the election issues. Domestic questions have been submerged. Both sides pledge agrarian reforms, social benefits and better distribution of wealth. Premier de Gasperi even accepts, with some reservations, the left's insistance on giving Labor a share in management. As of today the issues are:

1. The United States and Russia. The left describes the United States as the centre of capitalist reaction seeking war. To the right it is the home of the free. The left refers to Russia as the true democracy. The right calls it a totalitarian state.

2. Czecho-Slovakia. The left describes the Communist seizure of power as popular democracy in action. The right calls it a horrible example.

3. The Marshall Plan. The left says it is an instrument of American imperialism to enslave Italy. The right says it is Italy's sole path to economic salvation.

4. The Catholic Church. The left insists it is not against religion. Not so says the right, adding: Votes for Communism are votes against God.

DIETITIANS FAVOUR HOT BREAKFASTS of WHOLE-GRAIN

MORNING DEPRESSIONS SAID CAUSE OF POOR SCHOLASTIC SHOWINGS —

An exhaustive survey by prominent medical men and dietitians shows that most poor scholastic showings are due to morning depressions resulting from breakfasts deficient in minerals and vitamins. These depressions could be eliminated by the simple inclusion of whole-grain cereals at breakfast.

DOCTORS AGREE

Medical research has proven that among the many foods which supply the essential Vitamin $B_1$ (thiamine), whole-grain cereals are one of the richest sources.

STAPLE DIET

Welfare workers are unanimous in their choice of whole-grain cereals as part of a balanced and staple diet. They recommend them highly where pupils show a lack of interest in their studies or show a tendency to tire easily.

Breakfast Can be Bright!

If mouth-watering, nutty-flavoured goodness means anything to your family, you must serve Vita-B soon. With cream and brown sugar, Vita-B is one of those rare treats that brighten any breakfast. And remember, Vita-B cooks in 3 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Pritchard, Dufferin Avenue, announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Miss Winifred Louise Pritchard, R.N., to Mr. Donald E. Porritt, only son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Porritt, Moss Street. The wedding will take place quietly at the Royal Jubilee Hospital Chapel on April 21.

Jean Adams Bride in Medieval Gown and Heirloom Lace Veil

Standard baskets of Calla lilies and lighted white tapers in seven-branched candelabra formed the setting at Metropolitan United Church on Wednesday evening when Dorothy Jean, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Adams, 1210 Beach Drive, exchanged vows with Terence Robert Barbour, only son of Mrs. M. C. Barbour, and the late Mr. R. H. Barbour, of Larne, Northern Ireland, formerly of Winnipeg, Manitoba. Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse read the nuptial service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a medieval gown of ivory satin fashioned with centre panel from neck to hemline embroidered in seed pearls, the same trimming being carried out on the net yoke.

From a coronet of pearls her filmy veil of heirloom lace, worn by her great, great, great-grandmother, cascaded beyond her train. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds; her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Grace Adams, as maid of honor; in soft aqua, with bouquet of pink carnations and mauve freesias; Mrs. Henry Bird and Miss Lorraine Carruthers in honey-hue and peach shades respectively carrying bouquets of small yellow daffodils and blue irises. All were attired in old-world period style gowns of moire taffeta featuring crinoline hoop-skirts and off-shoulder necklines. Their large crownless picture hats finished with a satin bow at the back were of taffeta to match their frocks as were their elbow-length mitts over which they wore silver bracelets, the gifts of the bride.

The bridegroom had Mr. Edgar Wright as his best man and the ushers were: Mr. D. R. Park, Mr. D. W. C. Huggins and Mr. Clifford Balstone.

Prior to the ceremony Mr. Edgar Holloway at the organ played the wedding music in sequence as given for the nuptials of H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. During the signing of the register Mr. Pierre Timp and Miss Grace Adams sang as a duet "O Happy Day," by Edward German.

The reception was held at the home of the bride, where her parents assisted the young couple in receiving the guests. For the occasion Mrs. Adams wore a sapphire blue gown with matching off-the-face hat trimmed with ostrich plumes, and a corsage of rosebuds. The lace-covered table was centred with a three-tiered cake bedded in tulle and topped by a silver base of freesias and rosebuds from which satin streamers were draped to the base of the lighted candles in silver holders. Mr. O. Stanley Eden proposed the toast and also read the cables from relatives in England and Northern Ireland.

Leaving for a honeymoon on the Mainland, the bride wore a forest-green suit with grey gabardine top-coat, grey hat and accessories and a corsage of gardenias and red rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Barbour will make their home in Victoria.

Successful Spring Tea at Junior High

In a school lunchroom transformed by masses of bright Spring flowers and tastefully decorated with gay Easter posters prepared by student committees, the Central Junior High School branch of the Junior Red Cross held a successful Spring tea yesterday afternoon. Planned to aid the students' activity fund and Red Cross projects of the school, the tea attracted more than 300 friends and parents of the students. Miss Margaret Cameron, staff adviser of the Junior Red Cross Branch at Central and convener of the tea, said that although complete reports of the ticket sales had not yet been made, she was certain that the proceeds of the tea would reach the desired objective.

In opening the tea, Mrs. A. T. Hunkin mentioned the fine work being done at the school by the Junior Red Cross. She said that more than $600 had been contributed to the penny sacrifice fund by the students already this year, and that more than $4,000 had been raised since the school became an active supporter of Red Cross activities. Tea was poured by Mrs. A. I. Curtis, Mrs. H. Beckwith, Miss I. Tuck, Mrs. J. F. K. English, Mrs. J. Gough, Miss O. Heritage and Mrs. A. T. Hunkin.

Guests were welcomed by Mr. A. T. Hunkin, school principal, and the all-boy executive of Bill Holland Dickie Wood, Ron Fuller and George Price, who had planned the fund-raising tea. Lloyd Orchard, president of the school's student council, also helped in the reception of the guests on behalf of the boy and girl prefects and class representatives who were busy serving the visitors.

Among those present at the tea were Miss Margaret Palmer, British Columbia co-ordinator of Junior Red Cross work, and Mr. J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of Greater Victoria schools.

Final plans were outlined for the tea to be held at the Aged Ladies' Home on April 10, marking the 50th anniversary of that institution.

Honoring the birth of her son, Paul Gilbert, Mrs. Barbara Brown was presented with a silver spoon by the president, Muriel Knight, on behalf of the sorority.

Win Elliott conducted the cultural program, in which the study of France was concluded, with each member participating in the question assignments.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Winnie Wardman, 820 Cowper Avenue, on April 12.

He attended the famous Kneller-Hall where he studied orchestral and band instruments.

At the consol of the organ will be J. Ingram Smith, who will render a special Easter organ program as a prelude to the service.

Hot Cross Buns Have Long And Impressive History

By THE CHEF

Every year at Eastertime letters come flooding in from readers asking for a "real" recipe for Hot Cross Buns for Good Friday. It is always interesting to me to see how many people want to make their own buns, rather than buy them from the well-stocked bakeries and stores. It must be the ancient urge to make a personal offering to the goddess Astarte, in the time of Cecrops, when such buns first were recorded.

The buns can be traced through the Jewish passover cakes and the Eucharistic Bread, or cross-marked wafers mentioned in St. Chrysostom Liturgy. It is believed that in pre-Christian times the cross was slashed on the buns to make it easier to divide them. Be that as it may, your Good Friday Hot Cross Bun has an ancient and impressive history!

The "real" English type of bun is smaller than the ones usually seen in our bakeries, is round, rather dark in color and quite glossy. The cross is slashed into the surface and filled in with white icing. This is the recipe for such buns—and I like them better than any others:

Crumble 1 cake of yeast into ¼ cup of lukewarm water. Add a tablespoon of sugar and set aside to start bubbling. Scald a cup of milk and add to it ¼ cup butter and ¼ cup sugar. Let cool to lukewarm, then add the "working" yeast.

Sift about 3 cups of bread flour. Add ½ teaspoon salt and 1 scant teaspoon cinnamon and sift again into the yeast and milk mixture. Stir well. Add 1 egg, lightly beaten, and ¼ or more cup of currants and ¼ cup chopped citron. Cover and set in warm place to rise until doubled in bulk. Then knead, put on a lightly floured board and cut into small rounds, about one inch thick and two and a half across.

Put the buns an inch apart on a greased baking sheet and brush them with a mixture of egg yolk and milk. Cut a cross in the top of each. Bake at about 420 degrees not glossy enough, brush them with a light sugar sirup and then fill in the crosses with confectioners' sugar icing. Serve warm, with butter, for breakfast.

COWICHAN W.A.

W.A. to the Cowichan Hospital Association met Monday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, with Miss M. S. Wynne presiding. Miss J. Macfarlane reported donations of books and magazines to the hospital library. Mrs. Hector Marsh reported that 32 articles had been made in the sewing room, and in response to an urgent call, members had also given extra time to make draw sheets. Mrs. S. R. Kirkham reported that the show case had taken in $9.35 in March. New curtains and screen covers had been made for two newly decorated rooms, the W.A. paying for the materials. Miss Macfarlane gave an interesting report of the regional meeting held early in March at Nanaimo. The Regional accepted an invitation to hold the June meeting in Duncan. Following a report by Miss Bertha Jenkins, matron of the hospital, on the condition of the Nurses' Home, the W.A. voted $500 to be used for improvements there.

PETER BECOMES ACQUAINTED WITH MRS. QUACK

Make a new acquaintance every time you can;
You'll find it interesting and a very helpful plan.

It means more knowledge. You cannot meet anyone without learning something from him if you keep your ears and your eyes open. Everyone is at least a little different from everyone else, and the more people you know the more you may learn. Peter Rabbit knows this, and that is one reason he always is so eager to find out about other people. When he left Jimmy Skunk and Bobby Coon in the Green Forest and headed for the Smiling Pool to see if Grandfather Frog was awake yet, he had no idea of meeting a stranger there, so you can imagine just how surprised he was when he got in sight of the Smiling Pool to see someone whom he never had seen before swimming about there. He knew right away who it was. He knew that it was Mrs. Quack the Duck, because he often had heard about her. And then, too, it was very clear from her looks that she was a cousin of the ducks he had seen in Farmer Brown's dooryard. The difference was that while they were big and stupid-looking, Mrs. Quack was smaller, very trim and looked anything but stupid.

Peter was surprised to see her in the Smiling Pool

Peter was so surprised to see her in the Smiling Pool that he almost forgot to be polite. I am afraid he started in a very impolite way as he hurried to the edge of the bank. "I suppose," said Peter, "that you are Mrs. Quack, but I have never expected to see you unless I should go over to the Big River, and that is the place I never have visited and hardly expect to, because it is too far from the dear Old Brier Patch. You are Mrs. Quack, aren't you?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Quack, "and you must be Peter Rabbit. I've heard of you very often." All the time Mrs. Quack was swimming back and forth and in little circles in the most uneasy way.

"I hope you've heard nothing but good of me," replied Peter.

Mrs. Quack stopped her uneasy swimming for a minute and almost smiled at she looked at Peter. "The worst I have ever heard is that you are very curious about other people's affairs," said she.

Peter looked a wee, wee bit foolish, then he laughed right out. "I guess that is true enough," said he. "I like to learn all I can, and how can I learn without being curious? I'm curious right now. I'm wondering what brings you to the Smiling Pool when you never have been here before. It is the last place in the world I ever expected to find you."

"That's why I'm here," replied Mrs. Quack. "I hope others feel the same way. I came here because I just had to find some place where people wouldn't expect to find me and so wouldn't come looking for me. Little Joe Otter saw me yesterday on the Big River and told me of this place, and so, because I just had to go somewhere, I came here."

Peter's eyes opened very wide with surprise. "Why," he explained, "I should think you would be perfectly safe on the Big River. I don't see how any harm can possibly come to you out there."

The words were no sooner out of Peter's mouth than a faint bang sounded from way off toward the Big River. Mrs. Quack gave a great start and half lifted her wings as if to fly. But she thought better of it, and then Peter saw that she was trembling all over. "Did you hear that?" she asked in a faint voice.

Peter nodded. "That was a gun, a terrible gun, but it was a long way from here," said he.

"It was over on the Big River," said Mrs. Quack. "That's why it isn't safe for me over there. That's why I just had to find some other place. Oh, dear, the very sound of a gun sets me to shaking and makes my heart feel as if it would stop beating. Are you sure I am perfectly safe here?"

"Perfectly," spoke up Jerry Muskrat, who had been listening from the top of the Big Rock where he was lunching on a clam, "unless you are not smart enough to keep out of the clutches of Reddy Fox, or Old Man Coyote, or Hooty the Owl, or Redtail the Hawk."

"I'm not afraid of them," declared Mrs. Quack. "It's those two-legged creatures with terrible guns I'm afraid of," and she began to swim about more uneasily than ever.

Brother Colonels Climb Army Ladder

VICTORIA'S Purves brothers believe in keeping things in the family.

When Lt.-Col. R. L. Purves, D.S.O., 36 (right), steps out as director, army budget, Defence Headquarters, he will be replaced by his older brother, Lt.-Col. Donald F. Purves, M.B.E., 41.

Defence Minister Claxton yesterday announced appointment of Col. R. L. Purves to directorship of Canadian Armored Corps. Announcement said that Col. Donald F. Purves will be reappointed to army from Montreal position as C.N.R. economist and will take brother's place.

Squadron commander of Calgary Regiment at Dieppe, Col. R. L. Purves also served in Italy as second in command of Three Rivers Regiment and won D.S.O. for gallantry when he commanded Ontario Regiment at Orions.

Col. Donald F. Purves served as specialist in quartermaster-general branch and in 1946 returned as economist with C.N.R.

Sales Tax Yield in Greater Victoria Estimated $460,000 in Fiscal Year

While the Greater Vancouver area will receive more than half of the estimated $4,000,000 municipal share of the Provincial Government's 3 per cent sales tax for the 1948-49 fiscal year, Victoria and its surrounding municipalities will divide an estimated $460,000 for the same period if the tax receives the approval of the Legislature.

This was indicated in a letter from Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb to the Union of B.C. Municipalities and distributed to union members yesterday by R. R. F. Sewell, secretary.

Mr. Sewell said representations had been made by the U.B.C.M. to the Provincial Department of Finance for payment of the municipalities' share of the tax, if levied this year.

"If the tax is imposed without delay and arrangement made for payments this year, in all probability the payment will cover a six-month period," he said. This would mean that approximately $2,000,000 would be available for distribution to the municipalities.

There has been no indication from Mr. Anscomb, however, as to how or when the municipal share of the tax revenue will be distributed.

With his letter, Mr. Anscomb enclosed a list showing the approximate percentage of the municipal share the revenue from the sales tax to which each municipality would be entitled.

PERCENTAGE BASIS

Victoria's share, based on the school population of 1947 added to the total estimated population in 1946, would be approximately 6.6111 per cent, or $264,000 for the current fiscal year, he said.

On the same basis, Saanich would receive 2.99 per cent, or $119,600; Oak Bay, 1.3304 per cent, or $53,200, and Esquimalt, .5845 per cent, or $23,380.

Vancouver City's share for this fiscal year would be 41.0551 per cent, or $1,640,000; Burnaby, 4.9727 per cent; West Vancouver, 1.3064 per cent, and North Vancouver, 1.0295 per cent.

Other Island centres and their percentage share are: Port Alberni, .8889 per cent; Nanaimo, .8304 per cent; North Cowichan, .6550 per cent; Duncan, .3683 per cent; Alberni, .3150 per cent; Courtenay, .2606 per cent; Ladysmith, .2446 per cent, and Cumberland, .1249 per per cent.

Larger centres on the Mainland and their percentage share are: New Westminster, 4.0261 per cent; Surrey, 3.4160 per cent; Richmond, 2.3058 per cent; Chilliwack, 1.4087 per cent; Trail, 1.3005 per cent; Vernon, 1.2230 per cent; Kelowna, 1.1855 per cent; Penticton, 1.1685 per cent; Prince Rupert, 1.0189 per cent, and Kamloops, .9358 per cent.

INSTALL TRANSFORMER

MONCTON, N.B. (CP).—Alleviation of an electric power shortage in Moncton has been effected through installation of a new 5,000-kilowatt supply transformer by the New Brunswick Power Commission.

Change Drops Nationality From Listings

Amending legislation introduced in the House Tuesday by Labor Minister Gordon Wismer removes from employers responsibility for listing their employees by nationalities in registers required by the Male and Female Minimum Wage Acts.

The acts as they now stand say the register must show names, nationalities, ages and residential addresses. Under Mr. Wismer's amendment, "occupations" will be substituted for "nationalities."

The minister also introduced an amendment to the Semi-Monthly Payment of Wages Act to make it applicable to piece-work.

Amendments to the Game Act brought in by Mr. Wismer as Attorney-General will include all types of game, instead of specified kinds, in prohibition of pit-lamping and hunting after dark.

Other bills introduced by the minister provide for extension of provisions of the Mortgagors' and Purchasers' Relief Act for another year, and routine changes in the Mechanics' Lien Act, Police and Prisons Regulation Act and Jury Act.

Committee Advised City's Bill Asks Only Extension of Power

Bill to allow Victoria to lease the City Hall site to a private company for erection of a $3,000,000 hotel was presented to the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature yesterday by City Solicitor A. J. Patton.

He explained that the city already had power to grant a lease for 20 years and was merely seeking extension of the power for a 99-year lease.

The city intended to grant a fixed tax of $80,000 a year, Mr. Patton told the committee, but the city stood to gain because present taxes would only amount to $77,800.

When questioned as to what would happen if the city increased its mill rate or assessments, Mr. Patton pointed out this would probably be offset by a depreciation in the value of the structure.

Request from Vancouver for power to allow Hindus to vote in municipal elections brought a question from C.C.F. Leader Harold E. Winch as to why Chinese and other Canadian citizens were not also included.

SEEK AMENDMENT

Ald. George C. Miller said Vancouver would handle its own affairs in its own way, while D. E. McTaggart, city solicitor, remarked that it was partly a matter of difficulty in preparing a list of Chinese voters, many of whom had similar names.

Vancouver asked an amendment to its charter to permit police to appeal from disciplinary action or dismissal to the Attorney-General. This was opposed by Fred Dougherty, Police Union spokesman, who pointed out two of the police commissioners were appointed by the Attorney-General and asked for an appeal to the City Council. Nineteen men were dismissed last year, he said, without any right of appeal.

It was agreed that he be granted time to consult the Police Union on a suggestion of A. R. MacDougall (Cln., Pt. Grey) that appeal should be made to a Supreme Court judge.

Vancouver asked to remove the $500 licence fee ceiling to provide for an adequate tax on those who would not be covered by the proposed business tax; authority to exempt certain classes of business from the business tax, and authority to impose either a licence fee or business tax, whichever is greater.

U.K. Journey By Eyres Under Fire

Next month's trip to England for Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres and his deputy, E. G. Rowebottom, to shepherd a party of British Columbia industrialists, was sniped at by Herbert Gargrave (C.C.F., Mackenzie) in the House Tuesday.

Noting that the estimates provided for an increase of $2,000 in the minister's vote, Mr. Gargrave wondered whether the increase was to take care of "the junket the minister and his deputy are going to take to England this year at the expense of the taxpayer."

The province already had a trade representative and an agent-general in London, Mr. Gargrave reminded the House, and added:

"If you are sending the minister for a holiday you ought to send him a lot farther.

"I want the people to know that the minister and his deputy are being sent at their expense and that they are going to have to pay a sales tax for this type of thing."

Plan Ceremony to Open Fishermen's Wharf

Marine News

Now completed and ready to receive large numbers of commercial fishing vessels, the new fishermen's docks at the foot of Erie Street will be officially opened by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., at a special ceremony to be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m., it was learned yesterday.

Among those attending the function will be Major H. C. Holmes, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Fred Hawes, chairman of the chamber harbor committee, and Mayor Percy E. George.

Although not officially opened, the docks have been used already by a considerable number of fishermen.

In connection with the Tuesday ceremony, it is hoped to have a small "fleet" of fishing craft tie up at the new docks during the afternoon.

Cannery Ship to Seek Bottom Fish in Bering

The cannery ship Pacific Explorer is scheduled to sail Friday from Seattle on a three-months' trip to seek king crab and bottom fish in the Bering Sea.

Union spokesmen said the ship might not sail on schedule, however, unless contract agreements are reached meantime with five Seattle maritime unions.

Officials of the Pacific Exploration Company, which operated the cannery vessel in southern waters last year, said she would be supplied in the northern venture by a fleet of eight or nine chartered fishing boats.

Special equipment for processing and filleting bottom fish has been installed.

Trevor Morgan, 24, and William McNeilly, 24, of the Ss. Richmond Hill, were also sought.

'Mine' Proves False Alarm

The Navy tug Heatherton is back at Esquimalt after conducting a 23-hour search for what was believed to be a floating Japanese mine but turned out to be a mine-sweeping float unit "which could easily be mistaken for a mine."

She left the local naval base Tuesday and proceeded to the Port San Juan area, in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, following a report from an American aircraft, relayed to the Navy through the Department of Transport offices here.

HUGE CATTLE STATION

Study Truancy Of Sardines

The lowly sardine, which gave Southern California fishermen the shake last season, has returned in unprecedented numbers, according to a Los Angeles report.

So the California Fish and Game Commission is taking advantage of the return to study the habits of the sardine and learn why he ducked out last season and threw hundreds of fishermen out of work and boosted prices because of the scarcity.

Capt. Lars Wreeth sailed the research vessel, the N.B. Scofield, out of the harbor yesterday loaded with scientists and researchers and bound for Magdalena Bay. It is the first research work on the sardine since 1943.

Manchester Cargo Coming

The freighter Pacific Shipper, of the Furness-Withy Line, will be loading cargo for Pacific Coast ports —including Victoria—at Manchester between April 15 and 28, reports Cecil Ridout, manager of King Bros. Ltd.

Notice to Mariners

Mariners are advised that Point Grey buoy is reported extinguished and out of position. W. L. Stamford, local agent for the Department of Transport, announces this will be replaced as soon as possible.

MAY REFORESTATE KENYA

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP). — Timber experts from Britain recently concluded talks here with Kenya's agricultural and forestry department. They discussed the possibilities of planting 200,000 acres of softwood trees in the mountains of this equatorial country.

Shorter Week, Pay Increase Denied Police

Institution of a 40-hour week and pay increases in the city police department are impossible this year, the police commission advised the Victoria Police Union yesterday.

These and other union requests have been the subject of negotiation between representatives of the union and the commission for several weeks.

The commission, however, agreed to add Armistice Day and Boxing Day to the seven satutory holidays at present granted to the department, raising the total to nine. Also approved was a union request for three weeks' holidays for members of the force with more than ten years' seniority. At present the longer holiday is granted to men with over 15 years' service.

Mayor Percy E. George, commission chairman, said that the union representations had received "most careful consideration" but that it was not possible to grant the requests for increased pay and shorter working hours.

Two Premises Broken Into During Night

Hickman Tye Hardware Company, Ltd., and Western Auto Supply Company premises were broken into early yesterday morning, city detectives reported.

Detectives believe entrance first was made through Hickman Tye, and then with the use of axes stolen from the premises entry was made to the adjoining auto supply store.

An inner safe had been forced and the interior of the store ransacked. A cash register found in the washroom had been forced and the contents taken.

Detectives found a saxophone on the roof and two axes were brought into the station to be fingerprinted by Detective Dave Donaldson.

Warning Sign Rule Hoisted

A hoist until May 15 in new highway regulations requiring freight and passenger vehicles to be equipped with night signal devices to give warning to traffic in event of breakdown was announced at the Legislative Buildings yesterday.

Regulations were approved February 25, to go into effect immediately. Extension has now been granted because some operators were unable to procure warning devices in time.

Applying to passenger vehicles carrying nine persons or more and freight vehicles above one-half ton capacity, the regulations require flares or other approved signals to be placed 100 yards in front and rear of vehicles stalled on the highways.

Army to Build New Bridge In Far North

Construction of a 1,600-foot bridge over the Donjek River some 200 miles north of Whitehorse on the Northwest Highway System will soon be tackled by Canadian Army engineers.

The task of building the bridge is expected to take about three years. It will consist of eight 200-foot steel spans on concrete piers and will involve the relocation of the highway as the new steel structure is to be built two miles downstream from the present crossing.

Last year the army built two permanent steel and concrete bridges on the highway. One was over the Little Rancheria River at Mile 674 and the other at Big Creek at Mile 670. During the year it also constructed a 130-foot timber trestle at Washout Creek, Mile 492, and replaced five major culverts along the highway and made major repairs to several bridges, including the famed Peace River Bridge.

Work on a construction camp near the site of the proposed Donjek Bridge has already been completed and everything is in readiness for the army's bridge builders to move in.

Ottawa authorities said they did not know exactly when work would commence on the new crossing.

House Thrown Into Brief Confusion By Variance in Copies of Estimates

Confuston reigned for a few minutes in the House yesterday when Premier Byron Johnson and Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb found that their printed copies of estimates for the coming year didn't jibe—by a matter of $300,000.

But they didn't discover the error until Opposition Leader Harold Winch had risen on a point of order to query a blue book in his left hand showing $1,100,000 assistance to rural areas for education costs, and another in his right showing only $800,000.

"I contend that the House doesn't know what the estimates are, and until it does, it can't go on with this debate," Mr. Winch maintained.

The two Government leaders, who were embarrassed last Monday when C.C.F. Whip Herbert Gargrave drew attention to the fact that estimates provided two salaries for one cabinet member, put their heads together over their respective blue books and came up lookin' crestfallen to confess that they didn't agree.

"I ask you, how can we have two estimates of this nature before the Legislature?" demanded Mr. Winch.

"What kind of confusion has he (the finance minister) got into? I suggest [illegible] in his business!

"This debate is out of order until this is settled."

Mr. Speaker R. H. Carson ruled that the copy filed with the clerk of the House must be accepted as the official estimates.

SUSPENSEFUL WAIT

"Every time we deal with estimates do we have to go to the clerk of the House for his official copy?" asked Mr. Gargrave.

Mr. Anscomb, looking somewhat put out, said it was quite obvious there had been a printing error. Only those books showing $1,100,000 were correct.

The House waited in suspense while Clerk R. S. Yates hurried to his office to bring back the official copy. If it had shown $800,000, rural areas would have got $300,000 less than they had been promised, on Mr. Speaker's ruling.

But it didn't. On the clerk's return, Mr. Speaker informed the House the official estimates showed the $1,100,000 figure used by Mr. Anscomb in his budget speech.

Mr. Winch wanted to know how the error had occurred. Mr. Anscomb offered to adjourn the House to find out.

Then Premier Johnson rose to suggest the debate should proceed, promising that a check would be made in the meantime and that steps would be taken to see that all members received correct copies of the estimates.

Later, as the House was rising, Mr. Anscomb informed members the error appeared in only a few copies of the blue book, was in the sum-[illegible] not reflected in the general estimates.

Alternate Job Of Cutting 'Not Enough'

Dissatisfaction with the City's proposal to remove only every other holly tree on Government Street was expressed by residents of the area in a letter to the City Council yesterday.

Residents had previously petitioned the council to remove entirely the large holly trees growing along the boulevards on Government Street, between Toronto and Niagara Streets.

The proposed action, the letter stated, would not remove the present "menace."

It was suggested that the substitution of small flowering trees "would not only improve the appearance of the street, but would give the people of the neighborhood a sense of security which is lacking at present."

CAPITOL THEATRE Bob Hope is the star of Paramount's new comedy, "Where There's Life," which is now at the Capitol Theatre with Signe Hasso, William Bendix, George Coulouris, Vera Marshe, George Zucco, Dennis Hoey. Bob is seen as a disk jockey who is given a royal whirl by some fabulous characters.

ATLAS THEATRE Lawrence Tierney enacts the dramatic role of a reformed criminal in R.K.O. Radio's revealing and suspenseful "San Quentin," a drama of absorbing realism that deals with the reform of convicts. Martin Mooney has produced a telling "behind-the-scenes" picturization of conflict between confirmed criminals and those who strive to resume life as good citizens. This entertaining film ends tonight at the Atlas Theatre.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, March 24 (AP)—Grains held around previous closing levels on the Board of Trade. Prices opened a little lower, rallied a cent or more, and then turned downward again late in the session. Trading was not active and the main feature was the relative firmness of the May wheat future. Buying of May wheat at times was traced to cash houses, brokers who ordinarily represent flour mills and previous short sellers. Corn and oats followed the action of wheat.

TO PROCEED WITH ACTION

EDMONTON, March 24 (CP)—The Provincial Government will proceed with its suit against Oil Sands, Ltd., Hon. Lucien Maynard, Attorney-General, announced here. The province last November filed a [illegible] pany, involving possession of Oil Sands, Ltd., plant and property at Bitumont.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "PRECIPITATE"—"HEADFIRST?"

To precipitate something, whether it is an object such as a ball or something abstract like a crisis is to throw or cast or fling it into being with haste and violence headlong as we might say, thus most nearly approaching the literal sense of the word's origin.

Precipitate comes from the Latin prae "before," and caput, "head"—to praecepa, meaning "headlong" as it is used for example in chemistry for the matter a precipitate. To break it down, there is the Latin and so, lacking deliberation, or care.

Shakespeare said, "So many fathoms down precipitating."

But in Byron we find that would seem to be the figurative meaning:

"If they be daring it may precipitate their designs and prove dangerous."

And from the extension of the idea of falling downwards with rapidity and even headlong to the further uses of the word ...

Flyers Win W.C.H.L. Puck Crown

EDMONTON, March 24 (CP)—Edmonton Flyers tonight captured the Western Canada Senior Hockey League championship by downing Calgary Stampeders 6-2.

Playing stanchest hockey for more than 6,000 hysterical fans, Flyers emphatically entered the Western Canada senior game finals a step toward potential Allan Cup heroics.

They will meet winners of the current Trail smoke eaters-Kimberley Dynamiters series in a best-of-seven series, winners of which will battle for Western Canada honors against winners of the Port Arthur Canadians-Winnipeg Flyers feud.

From Colonist Correspondents

TAHSIS REMOTE SETTLEMENT ON WEST COAST OF ISLAND

Photograph shows tiny village of Tahsis established by Gibson Brothers' Logging Company at head of Tahsis Canal on West Coast of Vancouver Island. Canal is 17 miles long and from one-quarter to three-quarters of mile wide, and is one of three arms of Nootka Sound. At right is S.S. Princess Norah, tied up at company wharf where lumber is loaded aboard freighters. Sawmill is in centre of view.

Hope to Settle Strike

NANAIMO, March 24. — Efforts of Mayor George Muir and the Nanaimo city council to aid in settlement of the Vancouver Island coal mine strike brought a new wage increase offer from Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd.

The offer was made at a meeting in Nanaimo Tuesday between H. R. Plommer, manager of Canadian Collieries, and Mayor Muir. Its terms have been telegraphed to District 18 officials of the United Mine Workers of America, Calgary. Word is awaited as to whether a vote on the proposal will be ordered.

Under the new proposal, the 1,300 Vancouver Island miners would receive an immediate increase of $1.40 a day. In addition, they would receive another 60 cents a day increase when production in the mines increased to two and a half tons per man per day.

Company officials said the production rate in Vancouver Island mines had been 1.7 tons a day per man, compared with four tons per day per man in Alberta. Island mining is more difficult.

It is understood that the company has stated acceptance of the new wage offer will enable it to sell on the Vancouver market with cost to the consumer being increased only to the same extent that Alberta coal has increased.

Escape Injury In Flying Boat

ZEBALLOS, March 24. — Twelve passengers, including a logger on crutches, reached shore safely when a Queen Charlotte Air Lines, Ltd., 18-place Strumrser flying boat struck a log and was beached at Ceepeecee with a hole in her hull. A. Anderson was the pilot. Nelson Brothers Fisheries, Ltd., provided accommodation for the passengers. They were taken to Vancouver in another of the company's flying boats on Sunday.

J. Spilsbury, president of the air lines, R. Hatch, the company's chief pilot, and two mechanics examined the damaged hull of the flying boat. It is thought the craft will be dismantled and shipped to Vancouver by freighter for extensive repairs.

Mr. Mayo Singh, of Duncan, has generously donated 12 bedthrows to be used in the home. More than 200 Kiwanians and their wives from Washington, Oregon and British Columbia clubs attended. A dance followed.

Chairman of the banquet, which featured a floor show and civic greetings by Mayor George Muir, was Cyril Theedom, club president. ### Branch Loses Cash Left in Automobile

ALBERNI, March 24.—Provincial Police are investigating the theft of $270, belonging to Somass Branch of the Canadian Legion. The amount represented proceeds from the canteen and dance hall. W. Christie, steward of the club, left the money in his car while he closed up the hall. When he returned in about ten minutes the money was gone.

Forced to Vacate Five Acres Home

NANAIMO, March 24—Mrs. Martha Lubinch made a mistake when she opened her home on Park Avenue at Five Acres. She admitted a police matron.

She had barricaded herself in the house when a sheriff attempted to serve an eviction order. The house had been sold by her husband, now living at Cumberland, but she had refused to vacate.

She finally was evicted, but it required the police matron, a constable, the sheriff and a little subterfuge.

When Mrs. Lubinch saw a woman at the door she opened it, and while this was under way a policeman climbed through a window. Her goods and chattels were removed, and a new lock placed on the door.

To Operate Flying Club

PORT ALBERNI, March 24.—Preliminary steps for the formation of a flying club in Alberni Valley were taken at Port Alberni Airways headquarters when a call was issued for all interested parties to meet at the airport Sunday at 10 a.m.

There are 25 student flyers taking courses at present. Two have received certificates, and two more will be ready for examinations this month.

Formation of a club would make possible the acquisition of another aircraft. On week-ends some students have to wait as long as six hours to get in half an hour of flying time.

Interested flyers claim there are enough capable instructors residing in the valley to give instructions in all subjects from radio to engines.

Port Alberni Airways, which holds the charter aircraft and flying school licences from the department of transport, stated it was willing to incorporate the proposed club under its existing charter.

Kennedy Plans To Leave Post

No announcement as to his successor has been made.

Council Organizes Postmen's Dinner

PORT ALBERNI, March 24.—Port Alberni city council is as good as its word, according to Mayor Loran K. Jordan.

The mayor and council were hosts to the Post Office staff, marking the start of mail carrier delivery service here. About a year ago, when the prospects of service were dim, the council agreed that if it started in the year it would hold a dinner for Post Office employees.

Short addresses and a period of dancing produced a pleasant evening. References were made to the general community co-operation which has resulted in bringing the service here, and to the rapid progress of Port Alberni to metropolitan status as exemplified by the new service.

Set Easter Play

VIEW ROYAL, March 24.—Children's Easter play and concert will be held in View Royal Community Hall at 7:30 p.m., Easter Monday, under the auspices of the Women's Club of the Community Association.

The program will include a play entitled "The Ugly Duckling," the cast being composed of View Royal children, trained by Mrs. Robin Ritchie. There will be folk dancing and tumbling displays by Mrs P. Knight's class. The Brownies, under Mrs. J. Creighton, will present flag drill and a skit, "Family Trouble," by Pat Westwood. Vocal and instrumental solos will conclude the program.

Children's costumes were made by Mrs. H. Chandler and Mrs. P. M. Greaves. Proceeds of the concert will be devoted to children's activities in the association.

I'LL WAIT FOR YOU

by MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

When the music began again, she danced with Mr. Webster, who insisted that she call him Tommy and who began a long discourse of praise of Alan's accomplishments. She tried to listen appreciatively, all the while seeing that Alan was still on the veranda with Mrs. Webster and that the dancers had thinned, her cigarettes were squashed in the round glass tray. Carol was conscious of Alan's effort to be congenial while she helplessly consented to answer Mrs. Webster's questions as to the exact date of her marriage, her clothes, her honeymoon plans and her apartment. It was ghastly, giving her attention to the pathetically uninteresting little bride, knowing that Alan was aching to escape. Escape. What had they done that they must run away from Edwina Burke? Would it be the same after she and Alan were married?

Her heart contracted and her hands were weak when she saw Norman and Edwina coming toward them. Alan's face was a tight mask though he was on his feet to greet them. Mr. Webster arose also and Mrs. Webster's face suddenly was all eyes.

It was Carol who spoke first. Finally, she never knew quite how, they were all introduced to each other and Alan and Norman were talking and Edwina turned to her.

"I've been wanting to thank you for what you did for me the day of the accident. In a crisis most people can't move. You seemed to know what to do. I appreciate very much all you did for me."

So this was Edwina Burke, outspoken, sincere, friendly, with a lovely throaty voice one would not soon forget. This was Edwina Burke who seemed wholly unlike the stories attached to her name. Here was a girl no one could fear and many could like.

Carol said, "I really didn't do anything. I just happened to be there."

"You did more than most people would have done."

At the sound of the music, Norman moved to Carol's side and said, "May I?"

There was no way graciously to refuse. She looked neither at Alan nor at Edwina when she nodded and tried to smile, and preceded him to the ballroom, wondering if she could dance and if he would notice her trembling. Right or wrong, she had left Alan with Edwina and as she placed her hand on Norman's shoulder, she thought of the people in the room not as dancers but as mere bouncing puppets . . . The music became faster and faster . . . You felt like this when you were going to faint . . . She did not know what prompted her to look up at Norman but when she did, his smile eased the tension within her and the room and the people returned to normal.

"Has anyone ever told you you look like Aphrodite in a white dress?" he asked. "Now don't ask me why. Every man has his own conception of Aphrodite. You happen to be mine."

"Thank you, Norman."

"You're welcome. And if you're worried about Alan and the famous Edwina, I'll worry you even more by telling you that they just went outside together. But Edwina is a marvelous girl. That's another thing about Newton that has surprised me. Edwina is a girl you can trust."

* * * * *

Beneath the bitterness and resentment she felt toward Alan, Edwina was curiously amused when she found herself alone with him after Websters went in to dance.

She spoke first. "I'd like a cigarette. Shall we go outside? Much cooler out there . . ."

Alan fumbled for his cigarette, his eyes shifting in every direction except to her defiant face. Poor Alan . . . Yet she had found no way to refuse Norman's insistence that she meet Carol and she had thought meeting Carol, that she would like her for a friend. Trust Alan's good taste and good sense in selecting his wife . . .

CHAPTER VII

Edwina's mind was busy with thoughts of the tall fair girl in white as Alan followed her around the veranda to the front entrance. It was brighter there and as the light struck his face, she realized with a shock that he had changed. He was older, of course, the lines of his face had settled into early maturity, his clothes were well cut and the mark of success was unmistakably upon him. But there was more . . .

Flu to Blame If Postman's Ring Is Late

If you're not getting mail as early or often as you used to, blame the flu.

The Victoria Post Office staff is 40 workers short as a result of the illness which has swept through the Greater Victoria area, reports [illegible] of these employees has made a considerable dent in the full-time working personnel of 186 persons.

Those away constitute approximately 22 per cent of the letter-carrying staff, and as a result deliveries in some cases have been delayed. "There is no serious delay in the mail service as yet," remarked Mr. Sinclair, "but in some parts of the city residents are getting only one delivery a day instead of the customary two."

The staff shortage has also resulted in later deliveries of mail. Where householders were accustomed to getting their mail by 9 a.m., they are now having it delivered at 11 or later.

Considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting substitutes for the missing mailmen.

"We are doing everything possible to maintain an efficient service," Mr. Sinclair said.

City Logging Firm Wins Court Appeal

VANCOUVER, March 24 (CP).—Pioneer Logging Co. Ltd., of Victoria yesterday won its appeal from a judgment of Mr. Justice Wilson dismissing its claim to recover $14,000 from James S. Waugh of Seattle.

Action arose over a contract to log 35,000,000 feet of timber on the British Columbia Mainland.

SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP).—While police equipped with waders and crowbars smashed through ice to reach a swan which appeared to be frozen in a lake, the bird got up and walked away.

Victim of Shooting Describes Bank Encounter With Chinese

Magistrate Henry C. Hall yesterday committed for trial in a higher court Lee You Wah, 36-year-old Chinese, charged with shooting A. P. Newell of the Royal Bank of Canada, Government Street, with intent to maim.

Giving evidence for the first time in the preliminary hearing, Mr. Newell reviewed the happenings of March 8. He said the Chinese had entered the bank and asked to have a Bank of Toronto $1,000 cheque cashed.

He said he asked Wah for his bank book and on inspecting saw that it was a Royal Bank of Canada, Douglas Street branch, book and it included an entry of $1,000,000. Newell said he suggested going to the other branch.

Upon informing the Chinese that he could not help him further, Newell said the accused pulled a rifle from under his coat and aimed it right at his chest.

"What do you think you are doing with that gun?" Newell said he asked as he grabbed the weapon and pushed it down. During this procedure the gun discharged and a bullet went through Newell's right leg.

Newell said he then ran to a nearby store and phoned the police. Constables James Strong, Lester Clark, Keith Hollett testified during the hearing.

They found at the bank several men holding the accused down. On the floor beside Wah was a bottle of rum and a flashlight, police testified, and on Wah's person was an empty rum-bottle and many .22 cartridges.

William M. Carmichael, 1256 St. Denis Street, a customer in the bank said he saw the affair and made an attempt to wrest the gun from the accused. He said he failed and made a dash to phone the police.

Joseph McKenna, defence counsel, asked all witnesses if they had noticed any peculiar mannerisms about the accused, but all replied in the negative.

Miss C. Ellis and Miss Isobel Murray, bank employees, said they noticed the accused come in the door because he appeared to have a hunchback. This later proved to be the .22 rifle hidden under his coat, they said.

Island Highway Drivers Fined

Walter C. Trace, View Royal, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in Provincial Police court yesterday for crossing a double line on the Island Highway.

James Simpson, Vancouver Island Coach Lines driver, was fined $15 and $2.50 costs for exceeding the speed limit on the Island Highway near Colwood.

Alan H. Neal and Allan V. Redfern were each fined $25 and $2.50 costs for driving their motorcycles over the speed limit on the Island Highway. Howard E. Horner was fined $20 and $2.50 costs on a similar charge.

Victor E. Lowe, Langford, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs when convicted of dangerous driving. He pleaded not guilty.

Drivers Remanded to March 31 For Traffic Charge Judgment

Magistrate Henry C. Hall yesterday remanded for judgment to March 31 the trial of Mary J. Wollaston and Bennie Ramsay, who were both charged with dangerous driving as a result of an accident March 2 at the intersection of Rockland and Oak Bay Avenues.

Ramsay was the driver of a truck towing another truck driven by James Harper, 3131 Mars Street, when the rear vehicle was in collision on Oak Bay Avenue. P. J. Sinnott defended Ramsay.

Miss Wollaston testified that she was proceeding very slowly at the time of the accident and may have started to turn "slightly" towards Rockland Avenue when the crash occurred. She said she did not hear Ramsay blow his horn.

Harper said he swerved his truck in an attempt to avoid Miss Wollaston's car, which was turning in between the two trucks, and as a result crashed into the eastbound street car. N. T. Richard, street car conductor, also gave evidence.

Ramsay said he blew his horn to pass Miss Wollaston and when he was just about past her he felt a tug on his truck and heard the crash. The tow chain, he said, snapped.

Alan Baker, defending Miss Wollaston, said his client's turn was "practically negligible."

Mr. Sinnott, speaking in defence of Ramsay, said that his client was "wrongly charged" in that he could not help what the driver of the vehicle he had in tow had done. He said Miss Wollaston was entirely to blame for not looking behind for other vehicles.

City Workers Honor Dr. Anderson

Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, former medical health officer for the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health and now superintendent of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, was presented with a leather brief case and a cigarette case by members of the City Council and civic employees Tuesday.

City employees gathered in the mayor's office where an address, which had been signed by all members of the civic service, was read by Mayor Percy E. George.

In part the address stated: "We have admired your ever-gracious manner, your absolute fairness, your readiness at all times to give freely of your advice, both professional and otherwise, and your consistent standing shoulder to shoulder with your fellow employees in their common problems and endeavors.

"In the carrying out of your official duties you have established an enviable reputation, and we note with pleasure that you played a prominent part in the progressive arrangement under which was formed the Union Board of Health for Victoria and Esquimalt."

Expressing his thanks for the gifts Dr. Anderson assured the gathering that his interests still lie "very much with the City of Victoria" and that they will continue to do so.

Story of Radio Told in Growth Of Laboratory

The story of a radio and research laboratory that grew from a two-man staff in 1922 to one employing more than 1,000 persons, was outlined to the Victoria Electric Club Tuesday at the Strathcona Hotel by E. H. Scott, formerly head of the Scott Laboratories, Chicago. He left the firm toward the end of the World War.

Mr. Scott was the first in the commercial radio manufacturing field to use illustrations of wiring plans in radios for radio servicemen and hobbyists. His firm also inaugurated a series of newspaper and magazine articles on the building of radio sets.

Considerable attention was focused on his firm in 1924 when he took a small set to New Zealand, and from that country sent broadcasts which were received at points thousands of miles distant. The broadcasts made front page news in many newspapers.

During the war, he said, the Chicago laboratories produced more than 25,000 pieces of radio equipment for the United States Navy.

Club secretary Robert Patrick announces the club will be host at a luncheon meeting May 12 at the Empress Hotel at which between 200 and 300 delegates of the Northwest Light and Power Association conference will be guests.

Plan Track Meet

NANAIMO, March 24.—Nanaimo High School has accepted an invitation from the Department of Education, Victoria, to hold the first Inter-Provincial High School Track and Field Meet here May 28 and 29. Senior Principal J. B. Litch announced.

Nanaimo Track and Field Association will assist the high school after the Easter holidays to formulate a program and has set up committees and chairmen.

Cordova Bay Concert

Cordova Bay Community Club will hold an entertainment in McMorran's Pavilion at 8 p.m. March 31 in aid of the building fund. The program will include motion picture films; William Harkness, magician, and a concert party.
